

THE ROLE OF EDUCATIONAL LIBRARIES IN THE SOCIETY

Dr Prema A Kumbhalkar

Librarian, Arts college,

Sihora ,Tal-Tumsar, Dist-Bhandara

Email : prema.parul@gmail.com

In the present research paper, the role of academic library in higher education has been mentioned in the library. The service provided, the purpose as well as the importance of Ganthalaya. The library is considered to be a social institution in the field of Nikap and Vivekananda. The library is always ready to serve everyone in the field of social education and culture. Libraries are very useful in enhancing the knowledge of the readers. The library is very important in providing information on economics, sociology and international level.

Library is the abode of books. Such is the general definition of library. A library is a building where books are stored and used by the reader.

There are three main types of libraries :

1. Academic Library
2. Public Library
3. Special library

Libraries of schools, colleges, universities and governmental, semi-governmental and private institutions providing educational training which are used only for study and teaching by the student researchers, teachers of that institution. It is called Academic Library. An educational library is a library affiliated with any educational institution. "

Educational Library : Educational Library is a library of educational institutions. This type has three components.

School Library : This type of library consists of students in the age group of 2 to 16 years. So the kind of literature that they will like and understand in this library. The availability of college libraries will increase the popularity of students in this age group and the consumer of the college library will be a young class. Such readers / practice would expect to have different types of reading material. Audio-Visual Instruments, CD This type of information is compiled and categorized in Thai. Information is given on how to do it. Students use the library University Library The user of the university library is the student, professor and researcher. This helps in giving proper direction to research of various subjects.

Role of Academic Library : In education, students can enhance their knowledge by using the reading information available in the library in addition to their syllabus.

- There are some professions in the business that the knowledge about them is in the books and those books are available only in the library. Such as engineers, doctors, lawyers, writers and many other types of business users.
- Research needs to find new facts about any type of research. The library staff should enthusiastically support such a reader who has to rely on the library for this and this is their first duty of information.
- Religious and spiritual libraries should be for the benefit of the community.

The purpose of the educational library is to provide :

- reader with the reading material he / she wants .
- to provide each book with its own reader.
- Help save time and money for the reader and the library
- 4)The reading material in the library should be in keeping with the preferences of the readers.

Functions of Educational Library:

- Preservation of Information and Educational Materials Library should have selection and layout of reading material.
- Informal self-learning tools: The educational library should be available in the library as per the selection of the educational institution. Because of this, readers of all ages in the organization use the library.
- Development of comprehension according to the needs of the local reader: - The comprehension and interest of each reader is different. Literature should be compiled in your library according to their preferences. In order to encourage the readers and increase their knowledge.
- 4)To create awareness in the society: - By organizing social and cultural programs through the library and introducing the reading material in the library, the reader will be attracted to the library.

Conclusion-

- The research presented is useful for every consumer in the educational library society.
- Responsibility for providing necessary tools in school, college and university libraries today.
- The use of educational library is very useful for the reader who is interested in knowledge.
- Today's educational library helps the society to keep up to date with the developments in this country and in the world. The concession is for the Gok Library in the eyes of the readers.

Libraries The condition of libraries in the field of education is relatively better. There are about 200 libraries of recognized universities and deemed universities in the country, while there are about 5000 college libraries with minimum standards. The number of school libraries is around one and a half lakh. The growth of libraries at the university level seems to have taken place in a very scientific manner. However, the college library needs to be equipped with more attention. College libraries still do not have enough staff. Also, librarians have the same status as teachers, so the pay scale is not uniform across the country. However, the librarians have referred the matter to the concerned state governments and university administrations and it is expected that they will be resolved in the near future. Due to the increasing progress, new needs are being created today in the context of library and information system.

The need to expand the scope of this service has arisen over time. Our country lags far behind the rest of the world in terms of computers and similar new technologies. In order to change this situation, we must definitely accelerate the progress in this field. In line with the progress in the field of communication, the aim is to connect libraries of all types and at all levels in the country through computer network and use each other's resources in collaboration. Since you are not financially prosperous, libraries should work together to provide the best possible service to their readers. As a matter of business principle, new techniques must be adopted to make the management of libraries as efficient as possible. The quality of library services should be continuously enhanced by providing modern facilities through libraries, providing proper training to the staff and creating a conducive environment. The movement of public libraries should be extended to the smallest village, backward, different language and disguised country. If democracy is to be as strong as in India, then a comprehensive expansion of the library service is essential. The condition of school libraries should be improved as soon as possible.

References -

- Library and Society (LIB001) - Shri. A. V. Deshpande
- Library and Social Development - Late. Hundred Revati Nargunde
- 3)Bhagwat, Shashikala G. Library Management
- Libraries and Social Development - Nargundhe, Revati
- Library Science Introduction Connoisseur, Gangadhara.
- Library Computerization and Modernization - Phadke, The. No.
- Library and Informatics Pawar, S. P. - 111